

07.05.2007

przetarg test

According to the information obtained from the Ukrainian operator Ukrtransgaz, the transmission network failure in their network will not give rise to any disruptions in gas supplies to Poland running through the territory of the Ukraine and that it will not have an impact on gas supplies to Western Europe. At present, the gas supply and pressure at the entry point to the Polish transmission system from the Ukraine in Drozdowicze remain on the normal level planned.

<- Back to: Aktualno ci